Childbirth

(1) Birth plan

- We will ask you about your birth plan during the midwife's consultation before term.
- Birth plan is a good way to think through what you want for your birth and how you want to spend time with your baby, and to communicate your wishes with the doctors and midwives. For example, your birth plan may include your preferences for "I have lower back pain so I want to be kneeling on all fours", "I want to have my pictures taken with carrying my baby in my arms right after birth" and "I want to breastfeed my baby as much as I can".
- You can set a clear goal for childbirth by creating a birth plan. To achieve your goal, let's prepare your mind and body to give birth.

(2) Epidural analgesia

- If you wish to have an epidural, please inform your doctor by around 34 weeks of pregnancy.
- If epidural analgesia is requested, delivery with the use of uterotonic agents will be scheduled in principal. Information is available upon request ("Patient information regarding labor pain relief with epidural analgesia" (Anesthesiology version)).

(3) Uterotonic agents and Caesarean section (C-section)

- We place emphasis on spontaneous labor and put ultimate priority on the safety of the mother and baby. If there is a foreseeable risk to the mother and baby when letting the nature take its course, either an uterotonic agent will be used or C-section will be performed.
- Please read the patient information documents regarding the use of uterotonic agents, C-Section before term ("Patient information regarding abdominal C-Section").
